About Us

For over 30 years, Thornhill Australia Pty Ltd, a member of the AxFlow Group, has supplied, serviced, and tested plate heat exchangers for clients operating in the food and beverage, dairy, mining, oil and gas, brewing, public utilities, and other essential industries. We work with our customers to maintain their plate heat exchangers and to keep their businesses running smoothly and safely.

Thornhill is one of Australia's largest plate heat exchanger companies offering a complete range of quality aftermarket and OEM spares to suit different industry needs, and provide first-class support through our fully equipped service departments, and on site capabilities.

Services

Factory Servicing

Our Service Centres in Melbourne (Airport West), Edinburgh Nth (South Australia) and Brisbane (Stapylton) are among the best equipped facilities of their kind in Australia and are staffed by expert technicians to deliver quality servicing, testing, and replacement parts.

On-site Servicing

Save time and money and keep your plate heat exchangers in top condition through our On-site Servicing, Hydrostatic Pressure Testing, Gas Integrity Testing, and Cleaning in Place (CIP) services.

Testing

Worried about contamination and food safety? Minimise the risks of cross contamination and ensure you meet Dairy and Food Safety Standards with our Gas Integrity Testing, Holding Time Tube Test, Hydrostatic Testing, and Non-Destructive Testing (NDT) for Clean and Crack Testing.

Plate Heat Exchanger Redesign and Rebuild

Need a new Plate Heat Exchanger and the best service support package? Talk to us about our comprehensive design, installation, and support service.

Equipment & Parts

Thornhill Australia holds an extensive range of aftermarket Plate Heat Exchanger spares. As we also design and manufacture new Plate Heat Exchangers, and service and maintain equipment, we can provide you with a true evaluation between the costs of overhauling an existing heat exchanger to the cost of purchasing a new replacement.
